

Illinois River.

The Ship Has a Rough Voyage Down

Some time about noon on Saturday next ball in the style of 1,000 years ago, and manned by two sailor sons of Norway, will sail down the old Mississippi and cast anchor at St. Louis. Capt. Magnus Anderson, who originated and successfully carried out the idea of building the ship, and crossing the Atlantic in her, was in the city this morning for the purpose of making turned to Grafton, where the vessel sailed.

More than ordinary interest attached to the Viking apart from that of mere curiosity. The practical demonstration that a ship so built could safely weather the perils of a voyage across the Atlantic lends color to the claim that America's first "icebreaker" was built by Laif Ericson in 1009. It is the first discovery of a project of disproving this most formidable argument used by skeptics in committing the claim that the voyage was undertaken. The money for building the ship was raised by popular subscription in Norway. The vessel was to make a stormy passage across the Atlantic, New London, N. H., started the party and from there the ship was taken by rail to Grafton, where it was to make an exhibition at the World's Fair.

TRIP DOWN THE ILLINOIS.

On the close of the Fair Capt. Anderson determined to exhibit his vessel at the different fairs on the banks of the Mississippi. About two weeks ago he left Chicago via the Illinois River and yesterday reached Grafton after a voyage which he characterized as "indefinitely more rough and tiresome than the crossing of the Atlantic. The Captain's chief complaint was that the vessel was out of water in the river. In some places, while crossing the numerous sand bars, the vessel was so low in the water that the men had to wade. In other places the depth of water in the river was so shallow that it had to be tugged and lifted over the sand bars by means of a derrick and rollers. It was first intended to take the ship to St. Paul and from thence to the Mississippi river, but it was soon found necessary to abandon the project of the programme and no attempt will be made to visit the latter river. It is expected that Alton will be reached about a stop of one day will be made. From there the ship will be taken to St. Louis, where no more difficulty will be experienced on account of the low stage of the water, and thence to the mouth of the river.

Saturday. A story of one week was told by St. Anthony on the maintenance of a tug will be due tonight, and if the wind is favorable, the tug will be reached under full sail.

GUEST OF KRIGSBOM'S DESCENDANT.

Capt. Anderson will be a guest of Mr. A. H. Incipiate of 1157 Salisbury street, who is himself a descendant of the American family de la Roche, who was killed at the battle of the Bolso de Sancto-Claro, first Duke of Normandy.

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

An Abandoned Woman and Her Lover Shot to Death.

CHIEFLE CARRA, Colo., Nov. 18.—A double murder was committed in a saloon on Mountain late last night. A girl named Irene Good was drinking at the bar when an ex-prise fighter named Lear entered with a back door and opened fire upon her with a revolver. The bartender named James, prompted by his lover, rushed to her aid and was shot through the heart, while she staggered over to the pro-scraper, girl, shot her in the temple and then fell over dead by her side. Jealousy at her desertion for a rival is the supposed cause.

SCHOONER FLORA EMMA AND TUG REDFORD —Latter's Captain Drowned.

OSWAGO, N. Y., Nov. 15.—The schooner Flora Emma, Capt. Thomas Fox of Port Hope, Ontario, with 144,000 feet of lumber broke from her moorings in the outer harbor during the terrible gale last night and went ashore in the end of the east breakwater. The crew was rescued by the life-saving crew. The tug Lisa J. Redford went out into the storm to save the vessel. She labored vainly, burst a steam pipe and drifted helplessly alongside the schooner. Capt. Fox, however, was rescued by the crew of the tug and drowned. Both tug and vessel are a total loss.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Harry Mason of Jacksonville, Fla., who has been here to arrange for a fight between Mitchell and Corbett in that city, left for home to-day.

COLLECTOR BAIN HAPPY.

His Rheumatism Gone. He is Gaining in Flesh.

Mrs. Bain Tells How the Trouble Was Permanently Checked.

Recovery Depended on a Wise Choice of a Remedy.

An ignorant man is one who knows nothing, or knows badly, what he knows, or knows something other than he should know.

But the saddest ignorance is for a sick person not to know the remedy that will make him well.

Fortunately, few people have failed to hear from their physician or from neighbors, the remarkable cures of Pain's celery compound.

There is hardly a village in the land where this great compound has not saved lives and made others worth living.

For rheumatism and kindred troubles it is a positive cure. New strength, new life, new health come from its use.

It is the result of the labor and experience of one of the greatest physicians that ever lived, and from the time when it was first prescribed by Prof. Phelps of Dartmouth.

It has been growing in the estimation of the public. Physicians of all schools prescribe it, and those who use it recommend it heartily.

Mr. J. S. Bain is chief of the P. M. collectors in the office at Washington, and one of the trustees of the P. M. department. Writing to Wells & Richardson Co., Burlington, Vt., Aug. 22, he said:

"On my word and honor as a gentleman I have not passed a summer in the last seven years without having a spell of two or three weeks with rheumatism. Pain's celery compound saved me this time, and two bottles of the compound have made a new man of me. I weigh more now than I ever did in my life—160 pounds—and Pain's celery compound has the credit of doing it. I have recommended it to two of the men in the office, and it worked like a charm in their cases. One of the men was a total wreck. He would go you to see him now. He told me to-day that it was the finest medicine he ever took in his life."

Mrs. Bain wrote a week later as follows: "My husband for several years has suffered very much with rheumatism. Every spring for years he has lost at least two weeks with this trouble. He had tried every other medicine mentionable, but with little or no relief. In June he had rheumatism in his right shoulder very badly, but he was happy to say he lost no time. He got a bottle of Pain's celery compound for the first time, and it checked the trouble in four days, and now, after taking two bottles, he is himself again, and gaining in flesh very rapidly, weighing more than he ever did in his life. It is a wonderful remedy. Says a well known and conservative physician, a graduate of Harvard medical school: "Pain's celery compound is a remedy, which so far as my observation has gone, has given better results than any which I have ever tried."

POLICE OFFICERS' FEUD.

Judge Morris Lectures Two Policemen for Unneighborly Conduct.

This morning the feud between the families of Police Officers Schleifstein of the Central and Richard McCall of the First District cropped out once more in the First District Police Court. There has been great contention between the two families over a piece of ground between their respective lots of ground, both claiming to be the same. The case was tried before Judge Morris. The Judge said that he could not see why the Police Court should be a place for a family feud. He said that he would not allow the case to be tried in this manner. He said that he would allow the case to be tried in the usual manner. He said that he would allow the case to be tried in the usual manner.

A. M. PALMER STOCK COMPANY.

The Leading Organization of America—Their Repository for the Week.

Never in the history of the city has such an aggregation of actors and actresses been seen as are now at the Grand Opera-house. For the last fifteen years A. M. Palmer's Stock Company has been acknowledged to be the leading organization of New York. Not only has it been acknowledged to be the leading organization of New York, but it has also been acknowledged to be the leading organization of America.

The company includes the names of such actors as Maurice Barrymore, E. J. Henley, E. M. Hollander, J. L. Stoddard, Reub. Pax, Walter Ramsey, Herbert Sillars, Fred C. Thompson and Edward Bell. Among the ladies of the company are, Julia Arthur, May Brooklyn, Ida Conquest, Madeline Bouton, Ellen Prom, Ann Urhart and Emily Seward.

During the past four days the company have presented to the audiences of the Grand Opera-house "The Blackmailer," "A Pair of Spectacles," and "Yesterday." These performances have been acknowledged by everyone who has witnessed them to be the best presentations of legitimate drama ever given in St. Louis. The plays already given will not be repeated. To-night the company will give "The Blackmailer," an adaptation from the celebrated English play entitled "The Blackmailer."

This play was produced in Chicago one week ago last Monday with the intention of playing it but one night; but on account of the success of the piece, it was repeated several times. To-morrow night, and at the Saturday matinee, "Alabama," the acknowledged foremost dramatic effort of the nineteenth century, will be given by the company. "Alabama" will have the same cast as produced in New York at the Madison Square Theater. Mr. Maurice Barrymore will play the part of Capt. Devanport; J. B. Stoddard will play his original creation of Col. Preston, and E. M. Hollander, the original Col. Moberly, whose character work in this part has been the subject of more than one magazine article, will give the St. Louis public an opportunity of witnessing the accepted type of a true Southern gentleman. More than usual interest must necessarily center around the performance of "Alabama," owing to the fact that it is from the pen of Augustus Thomas, a former St. Louis man and the author of "Mizzoura," a place which Nat Goodwin has just made famous.

AWARDED $3,000.

Result of Daniel Sappendfeld's Second Suit for Damages.

There have, Nov. 16.—Several years ago Daniel Sappendfeld, a Parker County farmer, in crossing a bridge in that county which contained no side supports, tumbled over the edge in his wagon and sustained injuries. Sappendfeld sued Parker County for damages. On a change of venue to this county Sappendfeld got a $700 judgment. A year ago the Supreme Court reversed an error. A second trial has occurred and today Sappendfeld was given $3,000.

The Howard Trial.

JACKSON, Mich., Nov. 16.—The Government is still engaged in identifying the handwriting of G. F. Howard to be the same as that of William Lord Moore, Joseph Ledger and E. Ross. The morning session has been spent in reading letters purporting to have been sent out by William Lord Moore, No. 5 Rogers road, London, and Joseph Ledger, No. 1000 Broadway, New York. The Government will close their proof to-day. The defense will consume several days with their witnesses. The case will close about the middle of next week.

STOLE OVER $1,000,000.

The Record of Swindler Menage Caught in Central America.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 16.—Louis Menage, the man who was a few days ago apprehended in Central America, and whose record was asked for by the state department, and who will soon be on his way back to this city in custody of officers, has a record which places him in the front ranks of swindlers.

During last few months of his connection with the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Co. at Minneapolis, which was his principal victim, he misappropriated the money of that corporation to his own use in blocks of thousands of dollars, until his stealings footed up to the gigantic total of $1,650,000. This came out in the filing of the schedule of his individual liabilities in the office of the clerk of the court in the schedule all his notes are labeled "secured by collateral security with the N. G. L." No attempt is made to deny this collateral. In November, 1897, Menage was again arrested. He was taken to the extent of $161,650. At that time his enormous drain on the company began. In the month of May 10, and May 18, 1898, the Napoleon of finance had been labeled "secured by collateral security with the N. G. L." No attempt is made to deny this collateral. MANY patriots already see Gov. Jackson of Iowa stepping into Hoke Smith's shoes.

THE DOLLING out of provisional government for Hawaii should come to a speedy ending.

THE blunder and discredit of the Hawaiian business began with the Harrison administration.

CASHER JOHN C. RUSSELL may find some comfort in the story of King David and the prophet Nathan.

AUTUMN morning street-car passengers get on at La Grille avenue and get off at Pneumonia place.

THE new school directors are too modest. They should show how economically a political canvass can be conducted.

THERE ought to be no further doubt that the 50th Missouri's Thanksgiving Day.
No Democratic State could stand up to two Thanksgivings this year.

It cannot be said that the office of Secretary of State is beneath the dignity of ex-President Harrison. Many eminent Republicans think it is just the other way.

IF Brunswick could only have an autumn street-car atmosphere for a few hours the yellow fever germs would perish miserably and the dreadful epidemic would be at an end.

VISITORS to the tomb of James G. Blaine will think they hear a slight movement of the distinguished remains if they happen to be there when Benjamin Harrison is made Secretary of State.

IF President Polk's gunners are no better marksmen than Admiral Mello's the insurgents need not fear El Cid's dynamite guns. A first-class navy is not formidable unless it is handled by first-class men.

REMARKS VINTAGE course in the Senate during the silver debate established his ratio at 1 to 50, so far as Missouri "offenses" are concerned, and he has difficulty in maintaining himself at par even at that.

IF the Republican organs which are now preaching non-intervention in Hawaiian affairs had thought of it before Minister Stevens' intervention was approved by the Harrison administration they might have saved the country from its present unad-vised position.

THE French are urging a reduction of the American tariff duty on wines. They suppose that because Frenchmen buy American pork and American hay we should drink their wines. They are wholly oblivious to the tender young industries of our California.

IT is to be hoped that if the Republicans gain the House in '06 it will be done legitimately. The majority should be so large that the Republican Speaker will not have to make arrangements to throw out legally elected Democrats in order to carry out partisan legislation.

THE Union Pacific officials are said to feel perfectly secure because the Government has only a second mortgage which cannot be foreclosed unless the first is taken up. Exactly, and the first is held by the men who have controlled the property from the beginning. They induced Congress to exchange a first mortgage for a second with this very contingency in view.

SECRETARY PLATER's refusal to show the statements of election expenses filed with him by the newly elected school directors can hardly be justified on the plea he makes. They are public documents and the public has a right to know their contents. Of course nobody believes that the successful candidates spent more than was necessary to get themselves elected, but there is some curiosity as to the details, which Mr. Plater should make haste to satisfy.

THE deep, unfathomable mystery of the President's brief visit to New York may never be revealed. Whether it was to get another tooth extracted or to renew his anti-father prescription, or to learn how many American sailors had been enlisted for the Brazilian expedition, we may never know. It is right for a President to thus excite the curiosity of the American people at a time when their whole attention should be concentrated on the Hawaiian job or the Corbett-Mitchell meeting?

THOSE citizens who want to see Hawaii annexed because annexation is a party policy will be somewhat surprised at the report that Mr. McKinley approves the course of Secretary Gresham. If the report is not true it should be denounced at once by Mr. McKinley. His boom is not so large that it may not be affected by his opposition to the recognized policy of his party. Annexation is almost as important a system of hogging as the high tariff scheme, and few people will understand why Mr. McKinley can be the champion of one without being the advocate of the other.

TREASON HAMPANT.
The country is sadly in need of some new lexicons—in fact, its safety may depend upon the early appearance of these new guides.
The old definitions of the word "treason" were good enough some years ago, but such has been the expansion in word meanings that we must be brought up to the needs of the present day.

We are now told that the President and Secretary Gresham are guilty of treason in the Hawaiian matter. It is perfectly understood that neither Mr. Cleveland nor Secretary Gresham has the least idea of making war upon the United States, and that they have no idea of encouraging others to do so; but under our later definition of treason they are guilty wreches for whom it is difficult to name an adequate punishment. They have interfered with a great business scheme, by which many persons would have profited, and Uncle Samuel would have paid the bills.
It seems hard to say so, but this was treason. When any little squad cannot take the stars and stripes and seize any friendly government with them, treason begins to lurk. If they are halted it is treason to the stars and stripes, and patriotism is humbled.

Another form of treason which is equally dangerous has been developing of late years. This is the treason to "American industries." Grumbling consumers rebel in thought if not in action against paying tariff taxes in order that persons in certain lines of business may exact exorbitant prices for whatever product may be put upon our market. Would a real patriot criticize the price put upon any article of American manufacture? Doesn't he know that all the tariff profits are immediately paid out in wages to native Americans, and that the moment he begins the treasonable work of decrying "American industries" all the shops will close, the mills will shut down, and the country will go precipi-tately to the dogs?

When we get our new lexicons everybody will know just what treason is; and then let traitors beware!

TWO KINDS OF DIPLOMACY.
In international politics two policies are in vogue among civilized nations. When the parties to the controversy are equally matched diplomacy proceeds from a plea of right. When the dispute is between a powerful nation, well provided with cruisers, and a little tribe of savages or people struggling out of barbarism, the idea of right is never invoked. The only question is, how much of the barbarians' lands does the big nation want or how much treachery and brag will satisfy the "patriotism" of the great and glorious people, American, English or French, as the case may be?

In our late controversy with Great Britain every claim made by either side was based upon some principle of justice and although the negotiations were conducted for the most part by administrations of pronounced jingo proclivities the correspondence was characterized throughout by courtesy and good temper. Each side protested that it wanted only what was right, that is, what was its own, and when the disputants found that they could not agree they stopped negotiations and referred the case to a disinterested tribunal whose decision they both accepted. They were both big and strong; they were afraid of each other, and, therefore, they treated one another with distinguished consideration. They did just as "gentlemen of the old school" were wont to do in the days when courtesy was rather overdone, because, if an error was made on the other side, pistol practice was pretty sure to follow.

But how do we superior Christian nations treat the savages? A few months ago Sir Cecil Rhodes, English Governor of the South African colony and chief of a big money syndicate, looked upon the Hottentots and said that it was good. Well, Lobengula lost his land and, and at the same time, several thousands of his warriors were removed to another land, let us hope, a better home.

Right was never involved in this case, for it was thought of except as the fancy of a sentimentalist. The same thing happened when France coveted the territories of her friend, the King of Spain. Force was the animating principle of our diplomacy in the Chilean case and again in Hawaii, when an American Minister undertook to civilize and Christianize a heathen people by turning them and their plantations over to a group of speculators and conscienceless land-grabbers.
This transaction has been defended on the ground that the natives are a "lot of immoral, idolatrous and semi-civilized people," which is as reasonable as to say that burglary is a duty if you only rob the wicked and the ignorant.

We believe that President Cleveland is in error if he means to restore the Queen, but he has certainly done humanity, civilization and decency a good turn in departing from the traditions of cowardice and hypocrisy which have so long disgraced the diplomacy of Christian nations.

WHERE THE WEALTH GOES.

The Mayor of Boston declared war a few months ago on the Bay State Gas Co., which was taking money from the people to pay dividends on overcapitalization.
The fight was successful as this extract from his report to the City Council shows: The capitalization of the Bay State Gas Co. has been fixed by the award of a judicial commission appointed in pursuance of chap.
474 of the acts of 1893 at $2,000,000, being a reduction of $3,000,000 from the nominal capital of the company represented by stock and obligations.

The net result of the legislative investigations of this year into the operations of this company and its allies is that the capitalization of the five companies in question is recognized at $5,940,000, or $11,000,000 less than the $17,000,000 of stocks and bonds for which the Bay State Gas Co. of Delaware had made itself responsible.

The people of Boston were paying the monopolists dividends on $17,000,000, but it has been ascertained by judicial inquiry that the investment was only $5,940,000.
Hereafter the gas company will stand upon the same footing of paid-up capital as the grocers, the dry goods merchants and the peanut peddlers, except that it will be guaranteed against competition. This is an important exception, but as long as the advantage is not abused to the detriment of the people no complaint is likely to be heard.

This case is not singular. All corporations possessed of natural monopolies water their stock or increase their bonded debt whenever they think they can squeeze higher prices for their services out of the people. These overuses are so many drafts upon the common wealth for which no equivalent is given. The private business man is happy if he clears 5 or 6 per cent on his actual investment, but the railroad president or the gas man does not limit his prices according to his investment. He makes a profit on that and as much more as the guaranteed monopoly he enjoys enables him to extract. Sometimes he miscalculates and then we hear complaints that stocks in such enterprises do not pay. Perhaps not, but interest on the bonds is usually paid and in most cases the bonds represent the full value of the plant, and in many instances much more.

If a firm of grocers should be incorporated and issue $1,000,000 of $100.00 worth of goods it would not add to their profits because competition operates to keep gains down to a just amount and there is no reason why corporations holding natural monopolies should be allowed by law to abuse their privileges and make a greater profit than the grocer.

If the people will look into this matter they may find a clew to the whereabouts of their missing wealth.

THE ex-Secretary of a British iron and steel institute has come to the defense of Mr. Carnegie and represents him as a man of experience so large that he was able to foresee the approaching depression in the iron and steel industries. With this foresight, Mr. Carnegie reduced the wages of his workmen and the Homestead tragedies followed. Perhaps Mr. Carnegie did foresee. He may have foreseen that tariff rates had gone so high that only a nation of dolls would much longer tolerate the dishonesty, and that in the struggle to keep up exorbitant prices business might be deranged and mills closed. Few, however, will look upon Mr. Carnegie as a seer.
He and his crowd confidently believed that Mr. Harrison would be re-elected and that wages could be cut down under a high tariff as well as under a low tariff.

MR. SCHMERS' infant American industry in Pennsylvania, which is the manufacture of window glass at rates which go to increase American rents, has taken on a guiltier hue. Mr. Schmers' glassblowers all belong to the party with which Mr.
Schmers votes. In some protected industries all the employees have to belong to that war, but Mr. Schmers' property vote with him because they are true patriots and unshaken. They celebrated the Republican victory the other night, but two of them, instead of attending strictly to their rejoicing, quarreled over an assertion by one of the blowers that Belgians were better workmen than Americans. It appears that many of Mr. Schmers' voters—those who are not native Americans—are not so patriotic. The quarrel grew, and the two blowers to settle it proceeded to a duel. The duel was fought in the morning, the "circled" around and around, each slapping the other until both were fatally wounded or at least disfigured for life. Both these honest workmen have Mr. McKinley's sympathy, and perhaps he will advise Mr. Schmers to fill up his plant with Belgians exclusively, that future bloodshed may be avoided.

THE Arkansas Judge who is asking for a divorce from the woman who had promised to obey him was asked into this court by the lady remarking at intervals, "I'm going to shoot the top of your head off." "I'll blow your brains out," "I'll cut your throat from ear to ear," "The neighbors ought to take you out and hang you." "You're the meanest man in town." "You're not fit to have a wife." Then she would turn to him by the collar and threaten him with instant death. The woman who thus terrorizes her husband is not entitled to the blessings of matrimony.
She should be given some kind of employment that would take her thoughts away from the conjugal state. The most stalwart of men cannot defend themselves from such a woman. It will be remembered that Prof.
John L. Sullivan himself once asked for a divorce on the ground of "cruel and inhuman treatment."

An Illinois murderer, just sentenced to be hanged, asked the Sheriff for "lots to eat" before the time should come for the execution. It appears that the fear of death does not, at least, take away a man's appetite, and he always seems to sleep well on the night previous to his execution. The man with a clear conscience, who sleeps only at intervals and who cannot eat a "square meal" once a week, may take to reflecting on these facts, but he should not think on them too long lest he become a criminal merely for the benefit of his health.

A LOUISVILLE funeral director has on his books the names of a number of respected citizens who are cutting a social dash with a few dollars without having paid the funeral expenses of their departed man, and a tombstone man has a similar list of delinquents. The woman who takes a widower for better or for worse should demand a receipt from the undertaker and the tombstone man before the knot is tied. She, too, may pay away and be remembered only in the form of a disagreeable debt when No. 8 shall have appeared.

AS the railroad treasurer who robbed the Chicago railroad treasurer were under oversight, it is likely that they traveled to the scene of the robbery in a street car. This ought to be a clew. Two men in ulsters with only ordinary overcoats, and no doubt a full description of the pair might be obtained by a little effort among the chilly early morning patrons of the street railways.

WITH 150 of the invincible Columbian Guards of the late fair added to his army the President of Honduras will doubtless make himself President for life. All South American and Central American armies may eventually be recruited from the United States, and we shall have no further complaints of a surplus and unemployed population.

MRS. BALL's charge that ex-Secretary Foster conveyed real estate and kept the conveyance from being recorded in order to deceive his creditors, is said to have created a sensation in Fostoria. Between Mrs. Ball and high tariff apprehensions it is a bad year for Foster for Fostoria.

MR. GLADSTONE's late physician was a delicate, constitutionally weak man, whose children are strong, while Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone have strong constitutions and weak children. Are these cases of away-back heredity?

WHEN a new Governor General goes out to India he is allowed $20,000 of his traveling expenses. As he goes so much of the way by water, and can have few or no sleeping car expenses, what does he do with all that money?

The cold storage system on autumn street cars is an excellent thing for fruit transportation, but it is somewhat chilly for fresh and blood.

The autumn cars they are shy of heat.
And on autumn mornings it isn't a treat to get into the car with the summer seat.

Some of the street cars this morning were cold enough to give an Esquimaux pneumonia.

A Purified Party.

From the Fostoria Democrat.
The Democrat does not count it a Democratic defeat, although the Republican organization and its candidates necessarily profit by the result, but a great victory for Democratic principles and Democratic measures, and the Democratic party of the State is today stronger, better and more determined than ever to strive for the grand principles of that party organized by Thomas Jefferson in the early days of the Government, and that has withstood storm, disaster and defeat in many a contest and still lives because its principles are founded on right, justice and the equality of all men.

Long Live Democracy!

Down with the offensive "machine" and the offensive "boss."
Land and Water Routes.
From the Philadelphia Record.
The conduct of the steamboat business along the Mississippi River, occasioned by the rapid development of the railway system, has naturally resulted in the decline of many river towns which in their day were centers of commercial importance. But inland towns have had more than a corresponding growth in the number of commercial centers perpetually shifting to suit themselves.
Freight cars have largely supplanted the river barges and the canal boat, but the latter may have restoration through the aid of the trolley, and invention may yet crowd with traffic all our internal watercourses that were crowded during the good old steamboating days.

Sunday Texts.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: Chas. A. Green quotes the following Scriptures for the benefit of Dr. Carrington: Romans 1:12, 13; Romans 7:1-4; Romans 10:4, correctly concerning the keeping of the Sabbath, but for the benefit of Prof. P. Harrison he substitutes Acts 20: 7; First Corinthians 16, 2, and Galatians 2, 10, incorrectly.
For in the German of Luther is thus written, being translated into English: Acts 20, "But on a Sabbath," "See how verse 4: For that Sabbath was after the Easterday." First Corinthians 16, 2: "On each one of the Sabbaths." Galatians 2, "I was in the spirit on the Lord's Day." The Lord's Day is, in that scriptural sense, the seventh day of the week, namely Saturday, the Sabbath of the Lord. For God has appointed the seventh day for a Sabbath of the Lord, that it be for a sign. See Hebrews 4, 8, 9. Killee calls the attention of Fred W.
Harrison to 2 Peter, 1, 10, and 1 Corinthians 16, 2; also to Mark 16, 2, John 8, 1.
Now as to his reference to Acts 20, 7, and 1 Corinthians 16, 2, I refer him to my translations above concerning those passages, and with regard to his reference to Mark 16, 2-9, and John 20, 1, I will here give the following translations from the German of Luther, Mark 16, 2: "And when the Sabbath was past, Maria Magdalene and Maria Jacob and Salome bought spices that they might come and anoint him." "On the first day of the week, on a Sabbath very early, when the sun rose." John 20, 1: "On one of the first days of the week, namely on the Sabbath, when it was dark yet to the sepulcher, and seeing that the stone was away from the door of the tomb." 2 Peter 1, 10, and 1

WERE NOT HELD UP.

Two "Fake" Band-Bagging Stories Investigated by the Police.

Patrick O'Neill of 1413 South Jefferson avenue, a bartender by occupation, called at the Four Courts at 2 o'clock this morning and reported that he had been held up and robbed of his by a man and woman at Tenth and Walnut streets at about 11:30 o'clock.

O'Neill was under the influence of liquor, and Assistant Chief of Police Reedy did not believe his story and detailed Officer Keller to make an investigation. Keller started for Tenth and Walnut streets in company with O'Neill, who on the way admitted that he was not held up at all. He said that he had gone into a colored immoral resort and gave a woman $5.00 bill to get changed and keep it out of it, and she failed to return. O'Neill could not locate the house.

Louis F. Wolf, living at 2106 Olive street, reported to the police that on Nov. 7 he had been sandbagged on Twenty-third street, between Olive and Locust streets, about 6 o'clock in the evening and robbed of $7.50. An investigation showed that Wolf had been in Minnie Howard's immoral resort from 4:30 p. m. on Nov. 7, until 6 o'clock the next morning, and so could not have been sandbagged and robbed as he alleged. Assistant Chief Reedy is of the opinion that many reported "hold-ups" are similar to the above, if the truth could be learned.

ESCAPED FROM JAIL.

Frank P. Scarsce, the Noted Cincinnati Forger.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 15.—Frank P. Scarsce, the celebrated forger escaped jail here late last night by sawing through a door and window and letting himself down to the ground by a pair of check reins. He was a forger of deeds, mortgages and drafts to the extent of over $100,000 and was to be tried soon.

ELOPED WITH THE ORGANIST.

Rev. Bragg's Faring Message to Wife and Children.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 15.—The congregation of Calvary M. E. Church was shocked to learn that their popular pastor, Mr. C. M. Bragg, had eloped on Monday with Miss Lanthie Phelps, the organist of the church. Mr. Bragg is 42 years old and deserts a wife and five children. Mrs. Bragg is in delicate health. She was under the impression that her husband was in the country for a church business until she happened to find a note on his table reading:

I am a ruined man. I am going away and will not return. Tell the children I am dead.

The church authorities held a meeting but arrived at no final decision.

They Are Destitute.

Mary Carroll and her four small children are living at 1227 Ninth street in destitute circumstances.

Michael Wolf, his wife and three children are living at 1400 old Manchester road in need of clothing and food. The husband has been out of employment for the past month.

George Henderson and his wife and four small children, are without food, fuel or clothing at 1809 South Third street.

Capt. Campbell of the Sixth District has a bundle of clothing for the poor.

OUT IN THE WOOD.—Chas. Goodman hit Eva Savage over the head with a soda bottle. Eva slashed him in the neck with a razor. The trouble occurred last night in a disreputable resort at 704 North Twelfth street.

WILL REMAIN IN ST. LOUIS.

The Headquarters of the Electrical Workers Not to Be Moved.

The National Association of Electrical Workers in this week holding its third annual meeting at Cleveland, O. At yesterday's session an effort was made to have the headquarters of the association removed from St. Louis to Chicago, but was defeated. The association was organized in this city Nov. 28, 1891, with St. Louis as headquarters, and yesterday's action of the body indicates that they still think it the best location for their national headquarters.

The local union of the order is very strong in this city, comprising some 200 members in good standing.

THE IRON TRADE.

The Better Feeling Noted Last Week Continues.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 15.—There were deeper cuts in steel rails than have been known in the quiet shading of the two months previous and there were continued complications in Valley wages matters. There is a probability that Western steel-mills will close down unless a 10 per cent reduction is granted by the Amalgamated Association. These are the features of the week in iron and steel. The better feeling noted a week ago, based on the belief that the elections would insure a hedging from radical tariff plans, continues to make itself felt. Only a sentimental betterment has resulted, however, some authorities say. In other quarters large transactions are closed as a direct result of the increased confidence given to buyers and their belief that the improvement would continue until it affected prices. The bulk of buying, however, is based on the opinion that no appreciable stiffening of prices is to be looked for until the opening of the year at least.

For Coughs, Hoarseness and Throat Disorders, use "Brown's Bronchial Trochee." They have proved their efficacy by a test of many years.

H. C. DUNBAR HEARD FROM.—Mrs. Robert C. Dunbar, whose husband disappeared from home weeks ago, recently received a letter from him stating that he had been in Chicago, Marchfield, Ore., and was now in San Francisco, Cal. He claims he is out of work and asks his wife if she will join him when he obtains employment. Mrs. Dunbar was left quite destitute with two small children; she resides at 3422 Clark avenue.

Well, if it's very bad you must change your diet and perhaps take some distasteful drug—the doctor will tell you what—but first rub thoroughly the part afflicted with POND'S EXTRACT, then wrap it warmly with flannel, and the rheumatism may wholly disappear. It will certainly be much relieved. Now that you have the POND'S EXTRACT try it for any of the many things its buff wrapper mentions. It's a wonderful curative. But don't accept substitutes.
